SECESSION IN NEW YORK.

Disguise it as the movers will, the real purpose of the meeting in New York, held under the auspices of Ben. and Fernando Wood, was one of secession sympathy. Look at the course of these parties just previous to the bombardment of Sumter—at any time, in fact, except when the tremendous pressure of public opinion forced them to silence—and who will believe that the orators of this meeting are more loyal at heart than the malecontents of the first Congressional session of 1861. Under all the pretences of fury against negroes, the real hostility of these orators is of quite another sort. The essence of the whole is disloyalty, hatred of the Administration, and readiness to make terms with those in arms against the government. The falsehoods so industriously put forth by these men as to the purposes of the northern people before the war, did more than anything else to put power into the hands of the leading traitors. The southern men whose interests they hypocritically and falsely pretend to defend are now paying the most terrible penalty ever paid for their folly in believing these falsehoods.

The public mind instinctively brands all Hartford Convention trimmers as treasonable, and if this meeting is properly and promptly explained we need have little concern as to its taking such root with the people as to give its promoters the power they seek. It was a meeting to oppose and embarrass the government, not to support it. Its leading spirits are trusted by none, either for political integrity in past years or for faithfulness during the great trials of this war. The responsible conductors of the government, and then abusing the men of straw they create, was tried to excess. They would make the simple holding of opinions adverse to slavery a crime—greater than that of taking up arms against the government. They had no censures for the traitors who are causing such enormous sacrifices of life and treasure—they did not meet to strengthen the suffering Union armies—they met only to abuse and denounce all who believe slavery to be so deeply involved in the causes of this rebellion as to seek its amelioration by all honorable means. This may be a justifiable sport at this time, but the people will not believe it.

Very likely we are not to pass through this great national trial without finding malecontents and traitor sympathizers far more active and troublesome than they have been for a year past. The peace we have enjoyed was remarkable, was almost providential, in that hour of extreme danger. As the nation begins to emerge from the darkest of the shadows that have been thrown on it, we shall find more than one disgraceful secession developing itself; and shall have to combat more than one faction seeking to get power by dividing the loyal States.

STONEWALL JACKSON.

If we may believe the account published in the Richmond Dispatch, the famous rebel General Stonewall Jackson is dead. If this be true, the rebel cause has suffered a great loss as when Sidney Johnston was killed at Shiloh; for, although Jackson held an inferior rank, his exploits in the field stamped him undeniably as an officer of capacity and enterprise. He was a Georgian, his proper name being Thomas J. Jackson. How he obtained his surname of Stonewall is a matter of uncertainty. We believe that it originally belonged to a brigade of Virginia rebels, which he commanded. His activity, however, made him a division commander, and finally the leader of an army. He sustained three severe defeats in the course of his operations. The first was committed by Patterson's corps at Falling Waters; the second by Shields at Winchester; and the third by Fremont at Cross Keys.

But his successful efforts were telling. The first was his victory at Winchester, which threw many thousands of his men into the hospitals. The second, and the pursuit of Banks through the Shenandoah valley, after attacking Milroy in the mountains. His successful return through the valley, fighting Fremont at Cross Keys and Shields at Fort Republic, was even more remarkable. These efforts at swift marching and shrewd manoeuvres, and though he achieved success he filled the Virginia towns with his disabled soldiers. The latest number of the Richmond Dispatch received says, that "the hospitals in and around Charlottesville are filled with the wounded soldiers of Jackson's command, and they continue to arrive."

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

ARRIVAL OF SICK AND WOUNDED SOLDIERS AT PORTSMOUTH GROVE.—Information was received on Saturday by Lieut. Gov. Arnold, that between seventeen and eighteen hundred sick and wounded soldiers from the Hospitals at Yorktown, had left per steamer for Portsmouth Grove. Mayor Cranston, was immediately informed and yesterday morning those of our citizens who had not already been apprised of the fact became so as the noble transport boat Coastal, or America, slowly steamed up the bay. The people of Newport, Middletown and Portsmouth needed no prompting to offer their services, in any capacity, on an occasion like this, and hundreds were leaving our city by every possible conveyance throughout the entire day; by noon all the horses at the various livery stables were taken up by those eager either from curiosity or a more worthy object to get to the Grove. Bundles of lint, packages of jellies, clothing and articles of every conceivable kind, were huddled into omnibuses, coaches, express wagons, buggies, &c., with their eager drivers, and the west road presented in all probability a more lively appearance than ever, before, as the medley crowd of vehicles rushed on their errand of mercy through the insufferable heat of the warmest day of the season.

At about 10 o'clock, a. m., the Coastal dropped anchor as near the wharf as she could get, and officers were at once made from the hundreds on shore to render any assistance, either in nursing the sick on board or to remove them to the shore, but their services were not immediately required as Surgeon Stebbins, in charge, stated that there was plenty of assistance on board of the ship for the present, as no attempt at landing would be made until the arrival of the Atlantic and the Surgeon-in-Chief Dr. Wheaton, nevertheless many of our citizens went on board, to which no objection was made, and did what little was in their power to alleviate the sufferings of the patients, who appeared pleased at this mark of attention. Many were able to walk about the boat, but some of the wounded were suffering from indigestible agencies, lemons were found the most desirable donation, and lemonade and good cool water were more called for than anything else. Owing to the extreme heat the vessel was very close in spite of all attempts to keep her under way much less from this cause. The patients were mostly sick, only a small proportion being wounded, the prevalent cases being of typhoid fever. One poor fellow died while in the act of writing a letter to his parents, stating that he expected soon to recover, and his letter with others was taken by Newport gentlemen for transmission to friends "at home." Up to last evening only six had died on this steamer, since she left Yorktown, on the evening of the fourth—of them one (Sherwood) was buried at sea, another (Smith) was buried at Yorktown, and the rest were landed yesterday afternoon for interment at Portsmouth Grove. The following is the list of deaths on ship-board.

It would be impossible for us to publish a list of all the 1700 on board the ships without crowding out much other important matter, and we have therefore reluctantly confined ourselves to the commissioned officers and both privates and officers belonging to the Regiments from this State, as follows:

Much anxiety and consequent excitement prevailed during the day at the non-arrival of the Atlantic, as all felt desirous to have the landing made, and joy, if it is possible on such an occasion, and with such surroundings, gleamed from many a countenance when at half past four she came in sight and rapidly steamed to within a short distance from the other resellers, dropping an anchor in about an hour. She being the largest vessel could not get as near to the shore as the other. On her arrival Gov. Arnold immediately communicated with Surgeon Wheaton and arrangements were made for landing as speedily as possible.

The steamer Perry having been ordered to the scene of action as a lighter, left Newport at 6 p. m., with a load of anxious citizens who had enlisted to work, and on her arrival at the Grove the debarkation of tents and stores commenced, and was kept up during most of the night until all was landed, the tents pitched, and as far as possible everything prepared for the reception of the patients, who were to be landed to-day. The Atlantic contained only one officer on the sick list:

Lt. J. L. Johnson, Co. F, 96th N. Y. Regiment, (Printer,) and Commissary W. J. Bradford, Co. G, 2d R. I. Regiment; Private E. M. Thomas, Co. H, 2d R. I. Regiment.

The following is a complete list of the surgeons and medical attendants connected with both vessels:

Two ladies whose names we were unable to obtain, were acting as nurses on-board the Coastal. These true women were as angels of mercy to the sufferers; they had each been occupied during the past sixteen months in this praiseworthy object.

During the afternoon a boat with several ladies from this city arrived, who together with others from the neighborhood of the Grove, came to offer their services, but they were not required, at least until after the landing, when there will undoubtedly be an opportunity for all the kindly disposed to volunteer for the work of mercy.

The dead were landed late in the afternoon and boxes for their decent interment were hastily prepared.

It is a satisfaction to know that everything is being done by our citizens on a large scale for the comfort of the unfortunate, amidst all this suffering and we can appreciate somewhat the horrors of war; should we not be thankful to do all in our power for our victims, who in the defense of our peaceful homes are hardships and woes, to us, only as frightful dreams.

We are indebted to the officers of the steamers also to Mr. Pearce of the Press and Wm. Stevens Jr. Esq. for much valuable information concerning the above report.

CURRENTS FOR THE HOSPITALS.—We are requested to state by Mayor Cranston that he will be very glad to receive donations of currents, when they are ripe, as he intends to have a quantity of current jelly made to send to the Hospitals, where it is very much needed by the sick and wounded soldiers.

GOOD NEWS IF TRUE.—A private dispatch to an officer connected with the Naval Academy, states that Fort Darling has surrendered to McClellan's forces.

PERSONAL.—We learn that Gen. Hamilton U. S. A. is in the city.

The Court of Inquiry, now in session at the Charleston yard, is engaged in the investigation of certain charges preferred against a. v. Lieut. Cressey of the ship Ino, by Comdr. Craven of the Tucayo. It is alleged that on his late cruise in pursuit of the Sumter, Comdr. Craven refused to comply with the orders of Comdr. Craven to send the latter his signal book upon a verbal request. The question is a delicate one, the signal book of a man-of-war being held sacred by the commander, who is responsible for its keeping. In case of capture the signal book, which is loaded with lead, is thrown overboard to prevent its falling into the hands of the enemy.

The British iron-clad frigate Warrior has made another trial and another failure. The Arabia's mails brings the particulars of the event, and apologizes for the ill fortune of the ship by stating that she was in bad trim, that her bottom was fouled, that heavy rain was falling and the wind blowing, so that she was unable to make the trial. The Arabia's mails brings the particulars of the event, and apologizes for the ill fortune of the ship by stating that she was in bad trim, that her bottom was fouled, that heavy rain was falling and the wind blowing, so that she was unable to make the trial.

Illness of Senator Wilson.—The Washington correspondent of the Boston Traveler says: "Senator Wilson has been quite ill for a few days. He is at the Washington House, corner of Third street and the Avenue, his old place, and is convalescent. He has been quite ill—much more so than most of his friends hereabouts suppose. He is so active a member of the Senate that he is instantly missed from his place. He is one of the most useful members of Congress, doing more work for the government and nation than a dozen ordinary members. He hopes to be able to return to his seat in the Senate early this week."

The Case of Nimmans.—"Vidette" writes to the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser: "The numerous personal friends of Senator Nimmans feel deeply grieved at the probability that he will be formally expelled from the Senate. He continues to maintain that he had a legal right to accept the commission, and regards it as an open business transaction."

GLORIOUS NEWS!

VICKSBURG IS OURS.

New Madrid, July 6—Vicksburg is ours. No particulars.

The Negro Question in General Butler's Department.—A test case in regard to the treatment of refugee negroes has been reported to Washington by Gen. Butler for the decision of the Government. It appears that on the 15th instant about one hundred and fifty negroes, comprising men, women and children, had collected near the camp of General Phelps, at Carrollton, where they were likely to experience much suffering from want of food and shelter unless Government aid could be extended to them which could not be done, owing to the order of General Butler excluding them from the lines.

One party, seventy-five in number, reported that they were sent over the river by a planter named LeBlanche, who gave them their choice of leaving before sundown or receiving fifty lashes each. Gen. Phelps sent a communication to Gen. Butler on the subject, with the request that it should be transmitted to Washington with this request. Gen. B. has complied, accompanying the letter of Gen. Phelps, with a statement of his own. Gen. Butler concludes as follows:

"The account of Gen. Phelps is the negro side of the story; that above given is the story of Mr. LeBlanche's neighbors, some of whom I know to be loyal men. Gen. Phelps, I believe, intends making this test case for the policy of the government. I wish it might be so, for the difference of one action upon this subject is a source of trouble."

I respect his honest sincerity of opinion; but I am a soldier, bound to carry out the wishes of my government so long as I hold its commission, and I understand that policy to be the one I am pursuing. I do not feel at liberty to pursue any other. If the policy of the Government is nearly that which I sketched in my report upon this subject, as that which I have ordered in this Department, then the services of Gen. Phelps are worse than useless here."

If the views set forth in this report are to obtain, then he is invaluable; for his whole soul is in it, and he is a good soldier of large experience, and no braver man lives. I beg to leave the whole question with the President, with, perhaps, the needful assurance that his wishes shall be loyally followed, even if not in accordance with my own, as I have now no right to have any upon the subject. I write in haste, as the steamer Mississippi is waiting this dispatch. Awaiting the earliest possible instruction, I have the honor to be your obedient servant, BENJ. F. BUTLER.

A New Peace Advocate.—The London Times has the following observations to offer on the subject of the battle of Fair Oaks:

"When we have yielded the customary tribute to the combative instincts of the less and as wicked as if it had been exhibited between hired gladiators in a Pagan amphitheatre. It proves nothing, and it decides nothing. In all probability it will not even hasten or arrest the fall of Richmond; and, if it did it would have no effect upon the world's history, or even upon this miserable war. This battle of two days tells no more than that both parties are still strong enough to shed each other's blood, and weak enough to continue to do so."

We think that most readers would raise the question, whether this language is not as true of some other wars, as of the present war. For example, the wars of the last hundred years in India, with their hundreds of victims, the repeated wars in China, and some European contests in which England has had her full share of the bloodshed,—have they led to any particular good for mankind, or been otherwise than wanton and useless? Compensation of the cause and nature of the present war is not to be expected in such a quarter; but really we ought to be spared this sort of moralizing, even supposing this struggle to be set down as the result of mere blind rage and nothing more.—Boston Advertiser.

A Ship Robbed.—This was of a prominent merchant in Washington, upon learning that the Government had taken possession of E Street Baptist Church for hospital purposes, was heard to utter the following humane and lady-like language:

"So, the abolition heathens have robbed us of another church, and appropriated it to the use of the nasty, dirty soldiers whelp! I hope that every one of them, when they leave the building, will be in coffin."

The Memphis Advertiser states that the rebel traitors are solemnly determined in the event of emergency to appeal to England or France to be received as colonies. Rumors in this city state that the force of Breckinridge is moving North to fall upon Halleck's detached division. Gen. Curtis is suffering for supplies. Our boats cannot get up White river owing to low water. Arkansas refugees report Pike with 6,000 men moving from Fort Smith to attack Curtis' rear, while Hindman is rapidly gathering force to attack his front.

Advises received at Cairo from Arkansas are to the effect that Gen. Hindman, with some 3000 rebels, was in the immediate vicinity of St. Charles, and that Col. Fitz had abandoned the fort, spiked the guns. The situation of Gen. Curtis is said to be critical, he being unable to bring supplies, and his army having been on half rations for a week.

A clergyman of Tiverton, R. I., has obtained a patent for an improvement in the construction of tobacco pipes. The Fall River News describes the object of the improvement to consist in condensing the oil of the tobacco and preventing it from entering the system in other words to render excessive smoking harmless, instead of dangerous.

An Englishman just from Richmond states that he had one look at Jeff. Davis, and was greatly astonished at his appearance. He looked haggard, sick and worn, and very different indeed from the Jeff. Davis of other days.

TO HORSE OWNERS.
DR. SWETT'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT FOR HORSES is unrivaled by any, in all cases of Lameness, arising from Sprains, Bruises or Wrenching, its effect is magical and certain. Harrow or Saddle Galls, Scratches, Mange, &c., it will also cure speedily. Spanish and Ringbone may be easily prevented and cured in their incipient stages, but confirmed cases are beyond the possibility of a radical cure. No care of the kind, however, is so desperate or hopeless, but it may be alleviated by this Liniment, and its faithful application will always remove the Lameness, and enable the horse to travel with comparative ease.

Every horse owner should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lameness will effectually prevent those formidable diseases mentioned, to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless. See advertisement.
